Free Online Lessons for First-Time Beginners

Our mission is to bring the benefits of chess to school-age children in Hong Kong. We are offering free lessons to students who are new to chess. More specifically, the free lessons are for students who cannot play a game of chess from the beginning (starting position) to the end (checkmate). If your child is already beyond this level, we have other offerings available to them. Please contact us for further information.

We provide an online learning platform for the students. The lessons are designed to run about 15 minutes a session. The students can take these lessons on a PC, Mac, iPad, and mobile phones.

We recommend you consider purchasing a chess set once the student shows an interest to continue playing chess. You can find a wide selection available online on Amazon, eBay, and Taobao. We are happy to provide some guidance on size and material.

If you would like to start your journey, we would need your child's name, school, and your (the adult parent's) email address. We would set up the free account and email you the login instructions.
